Introduction

IFLA's Global Vision

Creating our future as a united library field is the focus of IFLA's Global Vision discussion, which has begun in 2017 leading to the launch of the IFLA's eagerly-awaited Global Vision report, the result of six regional workshops, hundreds of discussions, and 22,000 responses to our online consultation from 190 UN member states, across all seven continents. This offers for the first time, a truly global picture of the challenges and opportunities the library and information profession faces.

The wheels are in motion – it's now time to plan the future and turn our vision into reality: a strong and united library field powering literate, informed and participative societies!

Get involved

IFLA's Global Vision discussion brings together thousands of representatives of the library field worldwide to contribute to the biggest ideas store which will in turn develop ideas for actions for a united library field able to tackle the challenges of the future.

IFLA launched the second round of this global discussion at the 2018 Global Vision kick-off workshop in Barcelona, Spain. Following this kick-off, a series of high-level regional workshops will now take place in different parts of the world. Numerous meetings and online threads led by librarians from all over the world will build on the development of actions for a united library field to achieve the collective vision identified in an aligned, collaborative way.

The dedicated "Global Vision" webpage provides key information and will include support materials about the project to allow active participation in developing actions to tackle the challenges of the future.

Conclusions from all of these conversations will then be gathered and synthesized by IFLA in a transparent manner and presented in the IFLA World Library and Information Congress 2018, in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.
